

POLICY ON CHILD PROTECTION

Approved by: The Board of Afrikagrupperna

Adoption date: September 2023

Responsible: Secretary General

Afrikagrupperna's Child Protection Policy aims to ensure that the rights of children are not violated in relation to the operations of Afrikagrupperna and our partner organisations, and that we as an organisation have sufficient systems, mechanisms and awareness to mitigate these risks. The Policy applies to staff, members of the Board and other representatives of the organisation. Our partner organisations must share these values and have systems in place to protect children in their operations.

Afrikagrupperna uses the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child as a base. A child is any person under the age of 18. All children are of equal value and have the same rights, and must never be discriminated against, irrespective of the child's or parent/guardian's skin colour; gender, gender identity or gender expression; language; religion; political or other views; national, ethnic or social origin; property; functional variation; sexual orientation; civil or other status.

Afrikagrupperna does not tolerate any form of discrimination, exploitation or violence (physical or psychological) against children. Afrikagrupperna should in all its operations and cooperation mitigate the risk of children being exposed to any such acts in order to respect a child's integrity and never compromise their physical and/or psychological health.

Both Afrikagrupperna and our partner organisations should report any suspicions that a child has been exposed to some form of discrimination, injury, violation, physical or psychological violence, sexual abuse or exploitation to the relevant authorities/structures immediately. For Afrikagrupperna's own activities, a report should be given to Afrikagrupperna's management or by using Afrikagrupperna's whistleblower function on our webpage. If any Afrikagrupperna staff are involved, a disciplinary process will follow. For legal action national legislation applies.

This policy comprises protection and mitigation against:

- Physical abuse
- Any form of corporal punishment or other type of action causing physical injury is considered physical abuse of children.
- Psychological abuse
- Psychological abuse includes ridicule, criticism, mockery, disparagement, rejection, exclusion, neglect, unreasonable demands, forced isolation from social contacts and age-appropriate activities, and constant refusal to listen to what the child has to say. It also includes a child witnessing (seeing or hearing) violence in their immediate environment or living in an environment where there is frequent violence or threats of violence.
- Sexual abuse and sexual exploitation
- Covers all forms of sexual acts forced on a child by another person. Exploiting the child's position of dependency. Abuse of a child's vulnerable position for sexual purposes based on a position of power or trust. Could include promising the child monetary, social or political gain.

Afrikagrupperna shall independently and in cooperation with partner organisations:

- Plan and organise work in a way that minimises the risks of children being exposed to abuse or violation.
- Include child protection as a specific point when carrying out risk assessments on projects and activities.
- During field visits or in any other contact with children be cautious not to behave in any way that places a child or young person at risk of harm, exploitation or abuse. Never fondle, hold, kiss, hug or touch children or young people in an inappropriate or culturally insensitive way. Mistaken belief about the age of a child is not a defence.

- Increase knowledge among staff and partner organisations on child protection.
- Include empowerment of children and their families/caregivers in operations (talk about rights, what is acceptable and unacceptable and what action to take if problems occur). Empowerment does also entail the right to participate and to take the voices and opinions of children and young people into account.
- In Afrikagrupperna's work with communication, fundraising and collection of stories from partner organisations, pay specific attention to how children are portrayed and how we get the stories. Cut from our guideline on images:
- Only publish pictures viewing children and young people as strong and active individuals.
- All children should wear adequate clothing. We never publish pictures of naked children or pictures which may be perceived as sexual.
- Any texts or pictures published must never reveal any sensitive parts of a child's life.
- It should not be possible to identify a child based on the picture, and that is why we never publish the full name of children – just their first name.
- Pictures must never endanger the life of a child.
- Before publishing, consent from the child's parent/guardian must be given.

This policy relates to Afrikagrupperna's following policies and guidelines:

- Whistle Blower Guideline
