

WHISTLEBLOWING GUIDELINES

1. Introduction – what is whistleblowing, and why is it important?

Afrikagrupperna strives to achieve transparency and a high level of ethics. Our employees are the most important source of insight for revealing possible misconduct that needs to be addressed.

Our whistleblowing service offers a possibility to alert the organisation about suspicions of misconduct in confidence. It is an important tool for reducing risks and maintaining trust in our operations by enabling us to detect and act on possible misconduct at an early stage.

Whistleblowing can be done openly or anonymously.

The purpose of these whistleblowing guidelines is to encourage employees, partners and others to blow the whistle on suspected misconduct without any risk of retaliation, as well as to ensure an appropriate investigation process.

2. When to blow the whistle?

The whistleblowing service can be used to alert us about serious risks affecting individuals, our organisation, the society or the environment.

The whistleblowing service should also be used to alert improprieties concerning:

- accounting, internal accounting controls, auditing matters, fight against corruption banking- and financial crime, or
- other serious improprieties concerning the organizations or the group's vital interests or the life or health of individual persons, as for instance serious environmental crimes, major deficiencies as regards the security at the place of work and very serious forms of discrimination or harassments.
- commitments according to Afrikagrupperna's Code of conduct
- commitments according to Afrikagrupperna's Policy on Finance
- commitments according to Afrikagrupperna's Anti-corruption Policy
- commitments described in Program/Project Agreements with partner organizations
- commitments described in agreements with Sida, Radiohjälpen, and/or other donors.

What is mentioned above give examples for areas of improprieties. If you are insecure of reporting a concern, you are recommended to do so. If your complaint is considered to not fit within the whistleblowing guidelines you will be informed according to the procedure stated in chapter 5.1 below.

For issues relating to dissatisfaction in the work place or related matters, employees are asked to contact their supervisor or manager, as these issues cannot be investigated in the scope of the whistleblowing.

A person who blows the whistle does not need to have firm evidence for expressing a suspicion. However, deliberate reporting of false or malicious information is forbidden. Abuse of the whistleblowing service is a serious disciplinary offence.

Please note there are restrictions on the use of a whistleblowing service in certain countries.

3. Blow the Whistle

3.1 How to lodge a complaint

There are three different ways to raise a concern:

Alternative 1. Contact a supervisor or manager within our organisation.

Alternative 2. Contact the organisation's whistleblowing team. The whistleblowing should consist of four members where the secretary general and one member auditor should always be included, the two boardmembers will be appointed by the board at the constituent boardmeeting annually and should not be boardmembers with other functions in the board (such as members of staffgroup for example). The member auditors also appoint their representative annually directly after the AGM and then send info to the secretary of the board of whom is appointed. The whistleblowing team is always offered a free digital course by whistleB.

The 2024 whistleblowing team consist of:

Louise Lindfors, Secretary General, louise.lindfors@afrikagrupperna.se

Deniz Kellecioglu, Board Member, deniz.kellecioglu@afrikagrupperna.se

Kersti Forsberg, Board Member, kersti.forsberg@afrikagrupperna.se

Leka Kiwara, Member Auditor, leka.kiwara@afrikagrupperna.se

OBS: If the complaint concerns one or more persons within the team, you can choose to contact one person in the team who will be responsible for putting together a new team.

If a person raises a concern directly to a supervisor, manager or by contacting the whistleblowing team in person the case will be added manually by a whistleblowing team member in their WhistleB account and treated according to these guidelines.

Alternative 3. Anonymous messaging through the whistleblower case management and communication channel:

<https://report.whistleb.com/en/afrikagrupperna>

The whistleblowing channel allowing anonymous messaging is administrated by WhistleB, an external service provider¹. All messages are encrypted. To ensure the anonymity of the person sending a message, WhistleB does not track IP addresses or other meta-data (data that can be related to the person sending the message). The person sending the message also remains anonymous in the subsequent dialogue with the company/organisation whistleblowing team.

Please note that WhistleB provides communication and management service. Your complaint will be managed by Afrikagrupperna's whistleblowing team.

3. 2 A good whistle

When lodging a complaint, you should give as correct and detailed information as possible.

Their actions are logged and handling is confidential. When needed, individuals who can add expertise may be included in the investigation process. These people can access relevant data and are also bound to confidentiality. If external expertise is to be included in the investigation process, you will be informed according to the procedure stated in chapter 5.1 below.

4.2 Receiving a message

Regardless of how the whistleblowing team has received a message (see chapter 3.1) it will be inserted into the WhistleB service system for management.

Upon receiving a message, the whistleblowing team decides whether to accept or decline the message. If the message is accepted, appropriate measures for investigation will be taken, according to the procedure stated in chapter 5.1 below.

The whistleblowing team may decline to accept a message if:

- the alleged conduct is not reportable conduct under these whistleblowing guidelines
- the message has not been made in good faith or is malicious
